SIX PERSONS KILLED Fearful Collision on the West Shore

Railroad at Newburg.

Railroad at Newburg.

Nawauas, N. Y., July 13.—West Shore day express No. 1, due here at 12:04 noon, was wrecked in the West Shore yard in the southern part of the city today. Six or seven persons were killed and fifteen or twenty injured. Two of the dead had each an arm torn off.

The train consisted of engine No. 200, Shelby, engineer, baggage car, three day coaches and a Wagner car. The train was well filled with passengers. Car No. 71, in which nearly all the casualties occurred, had every seat filled. The train was a few minutes late at Cornwall, and and made the distance from that place to the southern limit of Newburg at a very rapid rate. It crossed Quassaick creek, a mile south of the station, ran a few rods further, under the Pennsylvania. Coal company's bridge, then ran into an open switch into the West Shore yard. In that yard a train was standing ready

The day express engine struck the freight engine with terrific force. The engineer jumped, but a little late, and was slightly hurt. The fireman also jumped and escaped injury. The train crashed through the freight, and all the cars were more or less smashed. Day coach 71, following the sleeper, had its side torn off and the trucks torn out.

The scene in this car was ferrible.

The scene in this car was terrible. Several persons were killed outright and jured. Those who were able to walk started out on foot for the station, and were seen with bruised and bleeding faces making their way painfully and slowly in the hot sun. Four of the dead

ARMY BILL IS SAFE

First Clause Passed by the Reichstag Yesterday

INSURES THE ENTIRE BILL

The Government Is Jubilant Over Its Victory and Thinks the Peace of Europe Assured.

Bester, July 13 .- At today's session of the reichstag Dr. Osann, a national liberal, moved the adoption of a resolu-tion declaring that in consequence of the fodder famine the proposed army maneuvers ought not to be proceeded with. General Von-Kaltenborn-Stachau, minister of war, opposed the motion He said that the control of the manes He said that the control of the manea-vers was a prerogative of the emperor and the house had no right to interfere. He added that the Prumian authorities, taking into account the prevalent dis-trees, would provide fodder magazines for the horses and buy cattle from the people in the suffering districts for the use of the troops taking part in the maneuvers. The armies, he further said, would be accompanied by water carts.

as to the emperor's prerogative. Herr Bachern held that the reichstag had the right to discuss the subject, and to this view the house agreed.

Result of the Vote.

Herr Brockman, centrist, declared that he was opposed to the maneuvers. Herr Frege, conservative, said that in his opinion a limitation of the operations was necessary. After some further discussions the subject was dropped and the house proceeded with the second reading of the army bill.

Dr. Lieber, centrist, made a speech against the bill, but advanced no reason against its adoption beyond those employed by him against the original bill in the last reichstag. Chancellor Yen Caprivi, who has recovered from his recent sickness, replied to Dr. Lieber's arguments, and concluded by asking the house to pass the bill in the shortest time possible. A vote was then taken on the first article of the bill, and it was passed by a vote of 198 to 187, a government majority of eleven. Count Herbert Bismarck supported the government. The article fixes for two years the peace effective at 479,229 men. The volunteers for the year are not included in this number.

The ministerialists are jubilant at this result, which practically amounts to the passage of the whole bill.

RUSHING HOME HULE.

RUSHING HOME RULE.

A Dosen Clauses Pushed Through the House Last Night. LONDON, July 13.- In the house of commons today, in committee of the whole, for the further discussion of clause 9 of the home rule bill was made. The debate was marked by an attack on Mr. Gladstone by a member of his own party. Robert Wallace, liberal member for East Edinburgh, was opposed to the withdrawal of the "in and out" sub-section of the clause, announcement of which was made yesterday by Mr. Gladstone, and he spoke at length against the course of the prime minister. against the course of the prime minister.

Joseph Chamberlain, the liberal unionist lealer, charged Mr. Gladstone with deceiving the country and with breaking his publicly expressed pledge against the retention of the power of the Irish members to discuss all affairs of policy and to vote thereon. The government, Mr. Chamberlain declared, was now unmasked and he challenged it to appear before the country on the issues raised.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock the galleries of the house were crowded with persons ment in forcing clauses 9, 18, 19, 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26 of the home rule bill.

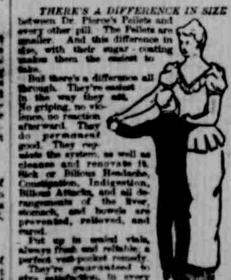

At 10 o'clock Chairman Melier applied the closure to the debate on an amendment proposing the omission of the 'in and out' provision, which for-bids Irish members of the imperial parliament to vote on certain questions.
The closure was carried by a vote of 325 to 298 amid loud opposition cheers.
Clause 9 was then adopted by a vote

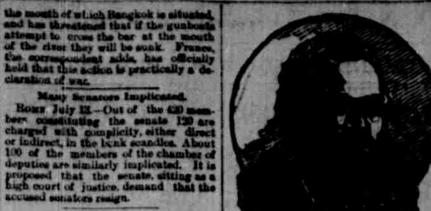

As Chairman Meller proceeded to put the question on clause 10, the first of the financial clauses, the conservatives left financial clauses, the conservatives left the house in a body. The government's proposal that the consideration of clause 10 be postponed was then passed by a vote of $58 to 59. The votes on financial clauses 11, 17, 20 and 21 were postponed by almost equally heavy majorities. By the time clause 18, concerning the powers of the Irish legislative assembly in matters of money, bills and votes were reached, the bolting conservatives had returned. The clause was votes were reached, the boiling conservatives had returned. The clause was carried by a vote of 328 to 294. The following clauses were then rushed through with majorities varying between 25 and 30: Clause 19, concerning the Irish exchequer judges; clause 22, concerning appeals from Irish courts; clause 23, concerning provision for the clause 23, concerning provision for the decision of constitutional questions; clause 24, concerning the office of lord lieutenant; clause 25, concerning the crown lands; clause 26, concerning the
